WASHINGTON, March 17.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE TENURE OF OFFICE BILL.

The President has expressed his views quite fully to members and others about the Tenure-of-Office law. He says that he does not think there are just as much duties the senate as during the session of Congress. He says it is entirely unnecessary during vacation for persons appointed, to go and, in his opinion a strict and fair interpretation of its provisions will not allow removal during the vacation except for reasons assigning reasons on during vacation, but that office-holders have political views different from those of the administration, does not, in his judgment constitute a proper ground for suspension, and, therefore, of course, not for removal. If they be found in any connection that he has made but one removal, at his other nominations having been for vacancies. The paper to the effect of King, head of the Bankruptcy Bureau of the Navy Department, resulted: "In place of B. F. Isherwood, whom I desire removed," but no reasons were given. He could, of course, use similar formula in other cases, but whether he would choose to do so is a question. He has made no removal of the kind so far. It was stated that the views of the President were communicated at the cabinet meeting yesterday, and were endorsed by all the members. The President is well aware that many public men want him to give a different construction to the law, but he has fully considered it in all its provisions, and is able to reach no other interpretation at present, because the choices are that if leave is given. A they will go into the list of those wanting orders, and have their names filled by the anti-patriotic brokers of office officers.

NAVY DEPARTMENT MATTERS.

The Navy Department is almost daily issuing orders, not of much public interest, but intended to put things in better shape for the efficiency of the navy. Secretary Boutwell and Admiral Porter find that a good many customs have grown up during the last few years that ought to be abolished as fast as they can discreetly do so.

MEHEWOOD'S SUCCESSOR.

Isherwood, recently in charge of the Bureau of Steam Engineering of the Navy Department, retired from office last evening, and King was appointed a few days since as successor, ordered upon his duties.

TURNED OUT.

S. M. Clarke has been turned out of the Treasury Department, by being given leave to resign. He will have no connection whatever with it while Mr. Boutwell is Secretary.

THE SENATORS IN THE SENATE.

The opinion in general to-night that Jno. Ainsworth, of Pennsylvania, will be made the Register of the Treasury.

THE PRESIDENT'S FURNITURE REMOVED TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

The furniture of the President was to-day moved from his residence to the White House, preparatory to its occupancy by his family.

THE PROPOSED PARKS.

Mayor's Meeting of South Side Citizens Last Evening.

Addresses by Messrs. Rice, Choate, Ormsbee and Others in Favor of Parks.

All S. S. Boards and the Supervisors of the West Side Met.

Letter from a Westsider.

THE SOUTH SIDE PARK.

A meeting of residents of the South Side in favor of the park, the land in Cook's dye house, and Hide and Leather Premium Place, last evening. The attendance was very large. D. D. Gilbert was elected Chairman, and Dr. T. J. Hazlehurst, Secretary.

MEANING OF MR. RICE.

John V. Farwell was the first speaker. He read a synopsis of the Park bill, drawn by Lucius Fairchild, of Madison, which he (Mr. F.) had introduced in the Legislature. He was sorry to hear the name mentioned of Mr. Ogden Goelet. Mr. Goelet was the largest property owner in the city, and had any one of human nature's weaknesses, he would have been found on the side of the West Side Park as they had on the side of the West Side Park as they had on the other. [Applause.]

The speaker attempts to frighten the people by saying that the proposed park bonds would be for some $20,000 to $30,000. This is a FOLLY of a big kind. The Cook County bonds are not worth a cent less. The whole power of the boulevard or assessment system is behind them. Every dollar of property is bound for the payment thereof, and the only question is as to the time of its payment. It is believed that the bonds will be paid in twenty years. The speaker spoke of the Lincoln Park commissioners, and of the Lincoln Park now to-day. [Applause.] Those commissioners were brought into existence by the action of some sixteen hundred citizens of property will in the city, or of men who were interested in property in the city, or of men who were interested in property in the city, or of men who were interested in property
